BILLING POLICY

Billing@allinaviation.com can assist with any billing questions.

- All invoices will be emailed to the client through QuickBooks and need to be paid through the link. Payment is due within 3 days or it is considered Overdue. Any invoices over 3 days past due can be charged to your card on file with the 3% fee. We are not required to notify you additionally before charging your card for past due invoices.
- If you have money on account to cover the invoice you will still receive an emailed invoice for your appointment. The balance due will show a negative amount reflecting your remaining credit on account. If you previously had money on account and receive an invoice email showing a balance due, it means you have exhausted your credit and now owe that amount.

GETTING STARTED

Take a flight!

There is no better way to see if aviation is right for you than to get up in the air with one of our highly trained CFIs for a discovery flight. This flight puts you at the controls and counts as logged hours towards your license. This is a 2 hour lesson with an instructor split between ground a flying at a flat rate $450 in a Cessna 172S and $600 in a Cirrus SR20.

Onboarding

You have taken your Discovery Flight and fell in LOVE! The next step is getting enrolled. Required documents needed before a second flight are as follows,

1. Drivers License
2. Passport, Proof of Citizenship or TSA approval
3. Medical Certificate (once completed)
4. Completed AIA Client Information Packet and Billing Document
5. Submitted Credit Card through secure link.

Get your medical

All pilots must pass an exam by an FAA approved AME before being able to fly solo. Although this can be completed at any time before your student solo, we recommend getting it done at the beginning of training to avoid any unknown issues. All In Aviation recommends Dr. Byer @ (702) 734-0017.

Purchase your Private Pilot Pack
